COURSE DESCRIPTION
This course concentrates on selected dramatic works of Shakespeare, examining how those shaped and were shaped by the world of Elizabethan and Jacobean England. While gaining an appreciation of various elements of Shakespearean drama (for example, Shakespeare’s use of language, stage techniques, and sources), students will also be encouraged to explore the broader social and cultural dimensions of Shakespeare’s plays. Examining texts in relation to issues like power and authority, gender and sexuality, class and race, students will further be invited to look at Shakespeare’s dramatic work from multiple theoretical perspectives and to apply select critical theories to his plays.

TEXTBOOKS
1) A Midsummer Night’s Dream, ed. by Harold F. Brooks (Arden Shakespeare: Second Series, 1979)
2) Macbeth, ed. by Sandra Clark and Pamela Mason (Arden Shakespeare: Third Series, 2015)
3) Othello, ed. by E. A. J. Honigmann (Arden Shakespeare: Third Series, 1997)

Selected secondary readings will be made available to students during the course of the semester. A list of other secondary material available in the library will also be provided to students at the beginning of the course. Further, the course will include the screening of a film adaptation of one or more of the plays under study.

CLASS POLICIES

You are required to work systematically so as to keep pace with the material assigned for each session. Your active participation in in-class discussions is essential, so you need to make sure that you always read the relevant material before coming to class. Systematic failure to come to class prepared or to contribute to discussions may have a negative impact on your final grade.

You are expected to attend all classes and scheduled exams, except in case of illness or any other exceptional circumstances. In that case, you need to inform me. Please keep in mind that missed in-class exams cannot be made up unless you present a valid medical certificate or other formal document justifying your absence.

All written work needs to be handed in by the deadline and no extensions will be given except in special circumstances. Assignments or exams handed in late will not be accepted.

Finally, you must come to class on time and always bring your textbook with you.

ACADEMIC DISHONESTY

Please keep in mind that any form of academic dishonesty (such as cheating in exams or plagiarism) is a very serious offence and will be penalized according to departmental regulations. Students who commit such offences may risk failing the entire course.

Plagiarism is the use of someone else’s work (language and/or thoughts) as one’s own original work.

All written work – whether produced in class or at home – must be the student’s own work. In order to avoid plagiarism, you should always make sure that any sources used in your work (whether copied directly, summarized or paraphrased) are clearly acknowledged. You are expected to be familiar with the MLA citation format and to use that to cite your sources whenever that is required.
