

Dr Paul Stephen Featherstone

PROFILE

Dr Paul Stephen Featherstone received his PhD in Geophysics to 1976 in BSc Geology (First class Hons 1973) from Durham University. He had 33 years with Shell with extensive exposure in large and small Operating Units. Master of the technologies needed for opportunity evaluation, including regional geology, geophysics, reservoir modelling, economics and software development. Wide, current, exposure to the Exploration Production, Gas & Power businesses, including commercial aspects and processes through leading Value Assurance Reviews Good communicator, team worker and motivator with strong leadership capabilities, experienced managing organisational change. Highly sought after lecturer on numerous training courses, conferences etc.