

Michalis (Mike) Polydorou (1985-2023)

Michalis (Mike) Polydorou excelled in his professional career in London as a senior specialist - Information Technology Security Consultant. He offered high digital network security services to governments and large organizations, which required high commitment and absolute confidentiality.

He was born on 11.07.1985 in London. As a child, he was fascinated by the world of technology and computers. He was distinguished by simplicity, sensitivity, empathy, insight and a constant desire to learn. He studied at London Metropolitan University, realizing, however, that he had much greater potential. That is why he decided to specialize in network security and continue his career in the UK as an Information Technology Security Consultant. There, he engaged in high digital security projects, earning with his merit senior jobs and the unlimited appreciation of those who worked with him who characterized him as a genius in his field and chose him for the most demanding services. Mike acquired qualifications that few had because he set high goals and achieved them. He passed away unexpectedly on 8.3.2023 in London.

With the scholarship in his memory, the Donor Mr. Pamos Polydorou, father of Michalis, wants to give the opportunity to young men and women who excel to follow the example of Michalis, to advance their studies and obtain a master's or doctoral degree in cyber security, the importance of which stands out so strongly in modern times. This way they will be able to follow the path that Michalis chose and stand out in the science that he loved so much.
