POSTGRADUATE STUDIES RULES

The University Council, exercising the powers vested in it by section 33 of the University of Cyprus (Student and Academic Affairs) Regulations of 2006 – 2016 CLR 172/2006 and 134/2016 and the University of Cyprus (Postgraduate Studies) regulations of 2016 regarding the provision of postgraduate programmes of study in other languages than the official languages of the Republic, hereby issues the following Rules:

GENERAL RULES OF POSTGRADUATE STUDIES

1. STUDIES – GENERAL

- 1.1 The Postgraduate Programmes of Study of the University of Cyprus are based on the European Credit Transfer System (ECTS). One ECTS is equivalent to 25-30 hours of student work.
- 1.2 The academic year is divided into the autumn and spring semesters. Supplementary study programmes are offered during the summer semester.
- 1.3 During the summer period, students may enrol only for the stages of research and writing, including the writing of their dissertation, as well as for independent study or practical exercise or a comprehensive examination always with the agreement of the supervising professor. The summer semester begins in mid-June and is 7 weeks long. The maximum teaching load it can include is 15 ECTS.
- 1.4 The allocation of ECTS of a programme of study between the Fall and Summer semester is expected to be equal. A small inequality is permitted but this must not exceed 30 ECTS.
- 1.5 A course is defined as educational activity which could take the form of essays, tutorials, laboratories, lectures, seminars, or a combination of the above, or such a form as may be set according to each case in the individual Department courses. The minimum number of students attending a course is five. Courses may be run for fewer students, but these do not count towards the Department member's teaching load, and must either be completed the following semester or it will be considered as additional teaching load in the same semester.

POSTGRADUATE STUDIES RULES

- 1.6 An academic qualification is awarded following the successful completion of studies in a specific course/direction, on the basis of a specific study programme set by a Department or Departments and with the approval of the competent bodies.
- 1.7 During the first week of teaching, the faculty member gives to the students a written outline of the course indicating the learning goals, the objectives, the content, the material, the syllabus, the bibliography, the required work of the students, the language of instruction, the number of ECTS and the method of evaluating the course. The outline is communicated to the Chair of the Department and is posted on the course's web site (if and as long as there is an online course area). The method of assessment of the course cannot be modified after the first week of instruction.
- 1.8 The University of Cyprus applies the principle of on-going assessment in every course. The student's performance in courses is evaluated, according to the professor's judgment and with the Department's approval, in different ways. Any form of assessment may not exceed 60% of the total score.
- 1.9 It is mandatory to inscribe the various grades on the examination papers and these grades may not be altered later.
- 1.10 Examinations are not permitted during the final week of teaching. Unannounced exams are not permitted. Oral exams may be used only as supplementary to other evaluation methods (an exception is the comprehensive examination which takes place in the framework of the writing of the PhD dissertation). Final written exams take place at a time specified by the Academic Affairs and Student Welfare Service. In postgraduate courses the final written exam may be replaced by the submission of a written project if this is included in the course outline.
- 1.11 The final examination papers cannot be returned. Students have access to them, if they wish, for no longer than ten calendar days after the announcement of the results, in the presence of the faculty member. The texts of the final exams are kept in the faculty's member office within the University's premises and after three years have passed, they are delivered by the faculty member to the secretariat of the relevant Department, which ensures in cooperation with the competent administrative Service for their massive and complete destruction.

POSTGRADUATE STUDIES RULES

- 1.12 The Examination Rules and the Examination Rules for the academic support of students with special needs which apply to undergraduate students apply also to postgraduate students.
- 1.13 Registration for courses takes place in the first week of each semester.
- 1.14 Attendance is mandatory and continuous in all Departments.
- 1.15 Students organise the programme of the semester in accordance with the study programme of the Department, in cooperation with their Academic/Research Supervisor, selecting from the courses offered and based on available places. Students may add or drop a course in the second week following commencement of classes and in the third week, they may only drop courses. If they leave a course between the fourth and the seventh week, this is recorded in their academic record as a withdrawal. Withdrawal from a course after week seven is automatically graded with zero (0).
- 1.16.1 In order to qualify for graduation, all Masters' postgraduate students must attend/participate in two (2) public lectures, seminars, conferences or other public events organised by the University of Cyprus each year of study without being credited with ECTS.
- 1.16.2 Students who voluntarily attend public lectures, seminars or other public events organised by the University of Cyprus, in addition to the mandatory two (two) events per semester, are credited with one (1) ECTS for attending 10 lectures or 20 hours of intensive courses at the Centre for Teaching and Learning (CTL).
- 1.16.3 For the purposes of recognition of credit units, it is calculated that one (1) full day conference corresponds to three (3) lectures and one (1) lecture corresponds to 2 hours of intensive courses at the Centre for Teaching and Learning (CTL).
- 1.16.4 Lectures are not evaluated with grades but receive up to two (2) ECTS for the entirety of the students' studies. It is up to the Department to specify the allocation of the ECTS in their Programmes of Study.
- 1.16.5 The Academic Affairs and Student Welfare Service is responsible for organising the procedure for recording students' participation in public lectures, seminars, conferences or other public events organised by the University of Cyprus, and for entering their ECTS electronically.

- 1.17 A UCY postgraduate student may not attend two postgraduate programmes at the same time or study in two Departments at Cyprus University or any other university or Establishment of Higher Education in Cyprus or abroad. By exception, parallel attendance at another University or Higher Education Establishment in Cyprus or abroad is permitted only if the student has the approval of the Council of the Department if it is at the level of a Master's degree or the approval of the Department Council and the student's Research Supervisor if it is at the doctoral level. It is provided that the student may not study fulltime at both universities.

If the Council of the Department approves the parallel attendance in two study programmes, the Department must notify the Graduate School in writing.

- 1.18 A postgraduate student wishing to leave the UCY programme of study in which he/she has enrolled, must inform the Department Council in writing. The Council's decision is communicated to the Dean of the Graduate School.

2. GRADING SYSTEM

- 2.1 The awarding of grades is the exclusive right of the faculty member. A change of grade by the faculty member is possible only in cases of an error and only with the written approval of the Chair of the Department and the Dean of the relevant Faculty, no later than 15 days after the announcement of the grades. If the change proposed by the faculty member is made later than 15 days, approval is required from the Graduate School Board. An exception is the change of grade for final year students where the change must be made no later than 3 days from the announcement of the grades.
- 2.2 The grading system is numerical, from 0 to 10 with increments of $\frac{1}{2}$. The minimum passing grade is 5. The final grade of a graduate student is calculated as the grade point average of all the courses passed by the student with the exception of the grade of the Master's thesis which is not counted in the final weighted average of the student's grade (GPA). The weighting is based on ECTS of each course.

POSTGRADUATE STUDIES RULES

Each department decides how to grade the Master's thesis (numerical or qualitative grade). The department decides whether the Master's thesis will be evaluated with qualitative grades (Excellent, Very Good, Good and Failure) or with a numerical grade (per ½ of the unit and with a minimum threshold of success grade 5).

The way of grading of the Master's thesis in inter-departmental, inter-university and inter-university degree programmes is decided jointly between the cooperating universities, faculties, departments. The Master's degree thesis is evaluated in the same way for all students enrolled in the programme, regardless of the enrollment Department.

- 2.3 In a postgraduate programme of study, courses can be graded as Success/Failure. These courses do not count towards the student's GPA, and may not exceed 25% of the programme's ECTS, with the exception of the dissertation units. All courses are presented in the Postgraduate Studies Prospectus.
- 2.4 For the calculation of the final GPA, only those courses in which the students received grades of 5 and above are considered (because credits can only be awarded for those). Courses calculated collectively cover the required ECTS. For the calculation all courses which the students have passed are considered, even if they have passed more courses required by their Programme of Study. Courses graded with success and/or failure and/or other quality characteristics such as the Master's thesis which is graded qualitatively or numerically, are not counted in the calculation of the final GPA.
- 2.5 Students wishing to improve their grades in a course in which they received a grade of at least 5, may repeat the course only once. The analytic grade record will contain both grades, but for the calculation of the final grade the more recent grade will count. If the most recent grade is under 5, then the grade is counted as 5.
- 2.6 When a course is repeated, (necessarily or to improve grades) and the number of ECTS allocated for the course has changed, the number of ECTS to be used will be the most recent.
- 2.7 An incomplete grade is given only in exceptional cases (e.g. proven medical or personal reasons). The procedure for incomplete grades is as follows:

POSTGRADUATE STUDIES RULES

- 2.7.1 The professor, with the approval of the Department Chairman, informs the Graduate School in writing.
 - 2.7.2 A date is given for completion of the course requirements, which cannot be later than the end of the next semester.
 - 2.7.3 If the student has not completed the course requirements prior to the end of the next semester, the grade is automatically converted to zero.
- 2.8 The grading of a diploma dissertation or thesis which takes one or more semesters to complete, is as follows:
- At the end of each semester and within the deadline set by the Academic affairs and Student Welfare Service, the supervising professor submits the student's grade in the electronic system (Success or Failure). The final grade for the thesis is delivered within the deadline set for all courses and is filed in the last semester of its preparation. The final qualitative or numerical grade for the Master's thesis is registered in the last semester of registration into thesis course and is not taken into account in the calculation of the final weighted average grade of the student (GPA score). The Master's degree thesis is evaluated qualitatively with the grades Excellent, Very Good, Good and Failure or with a numerical grade (per ½ of the unit and with a minimum threshold of success grade 5. The PhD thesis is graded as Success or Failure.
- 2.9 The analytical grades for all courses, as well as any possible failures, withdrawals, recognitions, or exemptions from courses, are recorded in the student's final analytical grade records. The grade average for each course in ECTS numbers is contained in the Department's Prospectus and the analytical grade records. In addition, all graduates receive a free Diploma Supplement in English language.
- 2.10 In case of failure in a compulsory course, the student must repeat the course. In case of failure in an optional course, the student may repeat it or replace it with a different optional course.

POSTGRADUATE STUDIES RULES

- 2.11 Students are entitled to ask for clarifications from the professor regarding matters of their final grades. If the professor refuses to discuss the matter with the student, the student has the right to ask for them from the Department Chairman.
- 2.12 The final grade is entered by the professors into the electronic system by the date specified by the Academic Affairs and Student Welfare Service.
- 2.13 The Senate ratifies the graduates' grades and the awarding of the degree.

3. POSTPONEMENT OF STUDIES BEFORE BEGINNING OF SEMESTER

- 3.1 Any student may apply to postpone their studies for one or two semesters. The total period of postponement cannot exceed two semesters.
- 3.2 An application for postponement, documented and accompanied by all supporting documents, is submitted to the Department Board before the beginning of the requested period.
- 3.3 The Department Board examines the application and decides by simple majority whether or not to approve it.
- 3.4 The Department Chairman informs the student in writing of the decision of the Department Board. The decision is communicated to the Head of the Graduate School.
- 3.5 The procedure for granting a postponement must be completed by the end of the first week of classes, so that the students do not take up places in the courses and the Graduate School is able to be informed in good time in order to remove the courses from the students before the week of adding/dropping courses
- 3.6 A semester during which a student has postponed her/his studies is not counted as study time.

POSTGRADUATE STUDIES RULES

4. TEMPORARY INTERRUPTION OF STUDIES MID-SEMESTER

- 4.1 A student may apply for Temporary Interruption of studies during the semester when there are serious medical reasons. The student applies to the Department, with notification to the Graduate School for approval. The Senate authorises the Dean of the Graduate School to approve requests.
- 4.2 Studies may be interrupted for up to 2 semesters and then the case is re-examined by the Graduate School. A semester where a student's studies have been interrupted is not counted as part of their studies.
- 4.3 MATERNITY – PATERNITY

Students may apply for maternity or paternity leave respectively, up to one year for mothers and up to one semester for fathers.

Students may apply for maternity or paternity leave with a medical certificate stating the estimated date of delivery. This is examined by the Department Board. The Chairman informs the student in writing of the Board's decision which is also communicated to the Graduate School.

The leave is not counted in the total years of study.

- 8.2 The following are required in order to obtain a Master's Degree:

8.2.1 Attendance for at least three semesters. Maximum length of study is eight semesters.

8.2.2 The successful completion of 90-120 ECTS units (75 for vocational programmes in case of practical exercise) as provided in the programme of study and the department's internal rules. If the programme includes the writing of a Dissertation, the workload allocated to the Dissertation must not exceed half of the total workload of the programme. The Masters' Dissertation must constitute a considerable contribution to science.

One of the programme's courses could be an undergraduate course of any Department, which must be at an advanced level and will count towards completion of the required ECTS units of the postgraduate programme. Provided that the units for each course are recognised only once.

POSTGRADUATE STUDIES RULES

- 8.2.3 There are two kinds of courses: compulsory, and optional from a limited set of choices specified by the Department, from which students may select courses.
 - 8.2.4 To a student who has successfully completed courses in the framework of another postgraduate programme, may be accredited up to 24 ECTS units, on condition that the units accredited will not correspond to more than 2 courses.
 - 8.2.5 A Dissertation written in the framework of another postgraduate programme does not exempt the student from a possible obligation to write a Dissertation for the student's own programme.
 - 8.2.6 Other criteria to be set by the Department, which will be included in the programme of study.
- 8.3 Through special internal rules, the Department regulates the way that Master dissertations are prepared and evaluated, and decides their minimum and maximum length, if it should so wish. A prerequisite is that Master's degree theses are independently evaluated by at least two reviewers. Master Dissertations are graded numerically or qualitatively with the grades Excellent, Very Good, Good, and Fail. The final qualitatively or numerical grade for the Master's degree thesis is not taken into account in the calculation of the GPA.
- 8.4 Should a student's Dissertation be rejected, the student is allowed to resubmit the Dissertation one more time. The Department is responsible for determining the procedures for such a situation. It is provided that the Dissertation must be re-submitted within eight (8) semesters, which is the maximum length of attendance for a Master postgraduate student.

9. EX OFFICIO TEMRINATION OF THE STUDIES OF A MASTER STUDENT

The studies of a Master level postgraduate student are terminated ex officio, without awarding a Master's degree to that student, if:

POSTGRADUATE STUDIES RULES

It is provided that semesters during which the studies were postponed or suspended, are not counted in the eight semesters.

- 9.2 The writing of a Postgraduate Dissertation is a requirement of the study programme attended by the student, and the student has failed to defend the Dissertation successfully for a second time.

- 9.3 The student has not enrolled for courses for two successive semesters and written attempts by the University to communicate with the student failed. In such a case, a decision by the Department's Board is required as well as the approval of the Dean of the Graduate School.

10. REQUIREMENTS OF DOCTORAL PROGRAMME

- 10.1 Doctoral programmes consist of 240 ECTS of which at least 60 relate to the teaching part of the programme and at least 120 relate to the purely research part. The remaining workload relates to the comprehensive examination, the preparation and presentation of the research proposal and the writing of the Doctoral Dissertation.

- 10.2 A doctoral student who in a given semester is at the research stage or the stage of writing the Doctoral Dissertation, is considered for that semester to have a workload equivalent to 30 ECTS. The student must register in one of these stages.

- 10.3 The following are required for obtaining a PhD:

10.3.1 Successful completion of at least 60 ECTS in postgraduate courses. If the student holds a Master's degree or equivalent, he/she is wholly or partially exempt from this requirement.

10.3.2 The required courses for Doctoral programmes may include up to two undergraduate courses from any Department.

POSTGRADUATE STUDIES RULES

10.3.3 Success in a comprehensive examination by the seventh semester of studies. The nature and procedure for conducting and evaluating the comprehensive examination are regulated by the programme of study of the student's own Department and in the special rules which might have been established.

10.3.3.1 The Department is responsible for planning the comprehensive examinations.

It is provided that the Department must offer the possibility of a comprehensive examination at least once in the academic year, so that each student will have had two opportunities by the seventh semester of studies.

10.3.3.2 The competent Committee for Postgraduate Programmes is responsible for coordination the comprehensive examination in the various subjects.

10.3.3.3 The contents of the comprehensive examination are specified in the programmes of study and the specific syllabus of the comprehensive examination is announced by the Postgraduate Programmes Committee.

10.3.3.4 In the case of an oral examination, each examination committee must consist of more than one person and detailed minutes.

10.3.3.5 The written comprehensive examinations are governed by paragraph 1.11 of the General Postgraduate Study Rules.

10.3.3.6 The comprehensive examination is graded as Success or Failure.

POSTGRADUATE STUDIES RULES

10.3.3.7 Incomplete grades are not given for the comprehensive examination.

SECTION I

I INTER-UNIVERSITY PROGRAMMES OF STUDY

1 GENERAL

- 1.1 An inter-university programme of study takes place between the University of Cyprus and at least one other establishment of higher education in Cyprus or abroad. If the partners are mainly from the EU and/or if the programme comes under a specific EU programme, this programme is an inter-university European cooperation programme. Inter-university programmes of study involving at least two other EU universities, which come under EU programmes, may be conducted in an international language. An inter-university programme of study is expected to have documented added value greater than if conducted as a normal UCY programme.

- 1.2 In inter-university programmes the mobility of professors/students is mandatory. The exception is programmes where the necessity of mobility is abolished, owing to the use of distance-learning instruments and other means for distance teaching of the courses.
- 1.3 In the inter-university programmes, all students must carry out a significant part of their studies in one or more establishments other than their own.

2 COOPERATION PROTOCOL

Protocols are required for inter-university programmes between UCY and other establishments. This protocol must, inter alia, include the following:

- 2.1 The contents and requirements of the joint programme, with regard to both the purely academic part and the mobility of the students, and possibly the academic staff as well. It is provided that the programme must fulfil the provisions of the European Credit Transfer System (ECTS). It is also provided that the programme, as a joint programme, will be mutually recognised by all partners.
- 2.2 The financial aspect of the agreement, which must, among other things, refer to the provisions relating to the payment of fees by the students. It is provided that the University of Cyprus may impose different fees from those provided for the corresponding normal UCY programmes, in order to adjust them to the special circumstances of the inter-university programmes. In cases where the fees that must be paid to UCY are higher than those provided in the corresponding normal programmes of the University, and payment of the additional amounts will be made by the students, the approval of the Council of Ministers is required.

POSTGRADUATE STUDIES RULES

- 2.3 The provisions and arrangements regarding the mutual hospitality offered to the students (and possibly faculty as well) in the cooperating establishments.
- 2.4 The programme's academic diary. It is provided that the University of Cyprus is able, within reason, to implement a different calendar, from the usual one, with regard to the conduct of inter-university programmes in order to be compatible with the cooperating universities and to satisfy any limitations set by the external funder, i.e. the EU, where applicable.
- 2.5 The structure and content of the students' learning agreements.
- 2.6 The degree to be awarded to the students who meet the requirements of the programme. It will also be defined whether the degree will consist of a common single degree (joint degree) signed by the Rectors of the partner institutions or a separate degree with a cross-reference of the partner institutions (dual degree, double degree).
- 2.7 The structure and contents of the Diploma Supplement, which will accompany the degree of all graduates from the programme.

The protocol is signed by the Senate, following the recommendation of the Graduate School in connection with the academic aspect of the cooperation, and the recommendation of the International Relations Committee, in connection with the mobility of those participating. If the standard protocol has been adopted, the approval of the International Relations Committee is not required.

3 UNIFIED INTER-UNIVERSITY PROGRAMMES

The articles which follow relate to unified inter-university programmes. Because these constitute the par excellence category of inter-university programmes, wherever this is not expressly stated, any reference to an inter-university programme implies a 'unified inter-university programme'.

POSTGRADUATE STUDIES RULES

- 3.1 The signing of a protocol is also required for the conduct of non-unified inter-university programmes, which, mutatis mutandis, covers the points mentioned in the article regarding joint inter-university programmes.
- 3.2 Inter-university programmes are allowed for all courses of study (undergraduate, Master Doctoral).
- 3.3 The general rules for student exchanges contain the provisions relating to the mobility of the students in the framework of the University's regular programmes. These rules do not necessarily apply to the inter-university programmes. The general rule as to the mobility of students in the framework of an inter-university programme, is that the students may fulfil up to 2/3 of the programme's requirements outside UCY. Therefore, at least 1/3 of the programme must take place at the University of Cyprus, and the students must follow a substantive part of their studies in at least one of the other cooperating universities.
- 3.4 A student following an inter-university PhD programme, may have a second Research Supervisor at one of the cooperating universities, in addition to their Research Supervisor at UCY. It is provided that the student will fulfil a substantive part of the programme, particularly as to the Doctoral Dissertation, at the University of her/his external Supervisor. The external Research Supervisor may also be an external member of the five-member Examination Committee for the student's Dissertation.
- 3.5 If students of UCY who are attending an inter-university programme, have to pay fees outside UCY for the part of their studies that takes place at one of the cooperating universities, they are exempt from paying fees to UCY for that part of the programme.
- 3.6 As to the academic aspect, an inter-university programme must comply with the terms and rules governing the corresponding category of programmes when this is attended in the normal way, mutatis mutandis, in connection with the required mobility. In particular, the terms concerning the students' workload (in ECTS units) and their allocation in courses, dissertations etc. If the rules of an inter-university programme, in connection with the academic aspect, are not fully consistent with the specific statutory framework of UCY, any divergences must be approved by the Senate. Approval is a basic condition for implementing the programme.

SECTION II

II. QUALITY ASSURANCE REQUIREMENTS FOR DOCTORAL THESES

A doctoral thesis must satisfy the following basic requirements:

- It must make reference to extensive bibliography and a comprehensive and in-depth reference to international research which is relevant to the subject of the dissertation, thus correlating the findings of the dissertation to what has been achieved to date in the relevant scientific field.
- It must make explicit reference to the scientific contribution of the thesis, particularly as regards the advancement of the field based on the research conducted. Consequently, it must make explicit reference to the original aspects of the thesis.
- It must provide an original and significant contribution to scientific knowledge. In other words, a doctoral thesis must have a theoretical foundation and its findings must have an impact within the broader scientific field.
- The scientific contribution and originality of the thesis must be presented briefly but clearly in the abstract and analysed more extensively in the main part of the thesis.

The following conditions apply to the procedures in connection with a doctoral programme:

- Students submit a research proposal in writing, in which they state explicitly what they believe are the original aspects and the scientific contribution of the proposed work. The proposal is evaluated by a three-member committee which submits a structured evaluation report stating both the points regarding which it agrees with the positions expressed and those with which it disagrees. The evaluation report is submitted to the Department Board as a point of information.

POSTGRADUATE STUDIES RULES

- The thesis is submitted only with the approval of the student's Research Supervisor.
- The external members of an Examining Committee for a doctoral thesis (one external member must be from outside UCY and the other from a Department outside the student's own), must come from areas directly related to the subject of the thesis. In addition, any possible conflict of interest between the student and the external evaluators must be avoided.
- Based on the Internal Postgraduate Rules, the Department may ask each of the members of the five-member Examining Committee, with the exception of the student's Research Supervisor, separately and individually from the others, to submit to the Chair of the Committee a written report with preliminary remarks on the content of the thesis. The independent preliminary reports are then communicated to all other members of the examining Committee prior to the examination of the thesis and are attached to the Committee's final report as Appendices. The submission of a preliminary report by the Research Supervisor is optional. The members of the committee decide by a majority vote whether the student will be given an opportunity to defend the thesis.
- The Examining Committee's report to the Senate must substantiate its recommendations convincingly. It should be noted that the examining committee does not decide whether a PhD degree should be awarded, but only makes its recommendation to the Senate as to whether or not the degree should be awarded, and the Senate makes its decision accordingly. In particular, if the recommendation is for the awarding of a title, the report must analyse the importance and originality of the research conducted as well as the scientific contribution to its field.
- The examining committee's report must also identify any publishable material in the thesis and suggest how this should be published (articles, monograph, etc.). If any publications have already taken place, a list must be attached together with the texts themselves.

The Chair of the Department submits to the Dean of the Graduate School the following documents: the final report of the five-member examining committee (with any attachments), the filled-out Form for the Submission of PhD Documents, the Thesis Submission Receipt from the University Library, and one hard copy of the PhD thesis. An abstract of the PhD thesis is presented to the Senate meeting during the discussion of the committee's report. The Dean of the Graduate School checks all supporting documents, verifies that the procedure followed is in accordance with University regulations and forwards all supporting documentation together with the recommendation of the examining committee to the Senate for the final approval for the award of the title of Doctor of Philosophy.

SECTION III

Please note that the English translation of the present University of Cyprus Rules and Regulations is for information purposes only and is not intended to have any legal effects. In the event that a dispute should arise about the interpretation of the provisions contained herein and the provisions contained in the original Greek documents, the latter shall prevail.

POSTGRADUATE STUDIES RULES

APPENDIX I

IN CONJUNCTION WITH §3.3(a) STUDENTS DISCIPLINARY RULES

Basic provision §3.3 of SDR:

“The following are considered serious offences:

§3.3 (a): Academic offences related to examinations, written assignments or incidents of plagiarism”.

Definitions:

Plagiarism and Collusion in Written Assignments

Plagiarism: the appropriation of ideas, extracts and/or individual phrases of the work of another person, whether verbatim or paraphrased, and/or their incorporation into one’s own assignment without reference to the source or through misleading or inadequate reference to the primary source.

Scope of the offence: Plagiarism is committed when the intellectual work of another person is published or delivered in the form of a paper in printed and/or electronic form for fulfilling a student’s obligations in the context of the assessment process. It also covers cases of circulation of university notes without the permission of their creator and the academic instructor.

Collusion: The submission and presentation of an assignment as a product of exclusively individual work, entirely completed by a single student, while it has been carried out in collaboration with other students”. Collusion also includes cases in which the student “resubmits in whole or in part an assignment which they had originally written for the needs of another assessment, to meet the obligations of a new assessment procedure.

Plagiarism/Collusion in Examinations

POSTGRADUATE STUDIES RULES

It is defined as the failure to comply with an evaluation procedure in a personal, self-reliant and independent way, as determined by the academic instructor through the method of examinations.

This includes the use during examinations of any form of cheating/cribbing, unauthorised collaboration with third parties and the use of aids and/or notes that have not been approved in advance by the instructor. It also includes impersonation, whereby another person assumes the obligations arising from the examination procedure by impersonating a specific student.

When extracts from another person's published or unpublished works are used, full reference must be made to the relevant sources. The use of a series of short extracts from different sources without any reference constitutes a serious incident of plagiarism, similar to copying a long extract, without any citation, from a single source. When a student summarises the ideas or opinions of a person, the name of that person must be cited in the text and the title of the relevant book, article or any other work must be cited in the bibliography.

SECTION VI

JOINT SUPERVISION OF A PhD STUDENT

(JOINT DEGREES or COTUTELLE)

POSTGRADUATE STUDIES RULES

2. A PhD student of the University of Cyprus who is involved in an international co-supervision must complete part of her/his program at another university institution and in collaboration with the co-supervising professor-Research Supervisor from the other university institution.
3. A PhD student from another university institution may complete part of her/his program at the University of Cyprus and in collaboration with the co-supervising professor-Research Supervisor from the University of Cyprus.
4. The candidate is registered as a PhD student at both collaborating universities in an existing doctoral program of the University of Cyprus.
5. The Protocol specifies the duration of stay of the PhD student in each university institution. The distribution of the duration of the PhD student's stay in each institution is determined by her/his supervising professors in accordance with the scientific requirements and the conditions for the preparation of the dissertation.
6. The Protocol lists the names of the professors who have undertaken the co-supervision of the doctoral dissertation.
7. The two supervising professors jointly supervise the doctoral dissertation in accordance with the rules and regulations of each institution. They are responsible for the progress of the student's research, undertake to communicate at regular intervals and to inform the competent bodies of both institutions about the progress of the doctoral dissertation by submitting the respective reports.
8. The Protocol specifies the language of writing of the doctoral dissertation which is in accordance with the relevant legislation governing the preparation of doctoral dissertations in each university.

POSTGRADUATE STUDIES RULES

12. If the university in which the student will defend her/his doctoral dissertation is the University of Cyprus, the PhD student should have completed all the requirements for the award of the degree of Doctor of Philosophy.
13. The Protocol is expected to contain provisions relating to the payment or non-payment of tuition fees by students. It is understood that the amount of tuition fees to be paid to the University of Cyprus is a function of the number of semesters and the number of courses in which the PhD student of the partner institution enrolls at the University of Cyprus.
14. The Protocol specifies the doctoral degree that will be awarded to the PhD student who meets the requirements of the program. It will also be determined whether the degree will consist of:
 - 14.1 A common unique degree signed by all the Rectors of the affiliated institutions,
